VOLUME XLII.

Postal Savings System.

The postmaster at Norway, Charles S. Akers, received official notice from Washington, D. C., the first of July, saying that the Norway post office had been designated as a repository for postal savings, and these orders went into effect July 24th.

The Postal Savings System is established to provide facilities for depositing savings at interest with the security of the United States Government for payment. The faith of the United States is solemnly pledged to the payment of these deposits. The postal savings offices, with accrued interest.

Accounts may be opened with persons ten years of age or over in his or her name and by married women in their own name and free from any interference or control by their husbands. One account is all a person can have at one time. Persons opening accounts must be patrons of the postoffice, and these accounts have to be opened by the depositor in person or his authorized representative, but after opening an account, deposits may be sent by mail.

Deposits in these depository offices are only accepted from individuals and not from a corporation, association, society, firm, partnership, or in the names of two or more persons jointly, nor can an account be opened by one person in trust for another person.

The service of the Postal Savings System is free and no charge is made on opening an account nor on the withdrawal of the deposit.

The postoffice officials or any person connected with the postoffice department are not allowed to disclose the name of any depositor or give any information concerning an account except to the depositor himself, unless directed to do so by the Postmaster General.

Deposits are evidenced by postal savings certificates which are issued in denominations of $1, $2, $5, $10, $20, $50 and $100, and each bears the name of the depositor, number of his account, date of issue, name of the depository office and the date on which the interest begins. A duplicate certificate is issued to the depositor, and returns to the postmaster who keeps it in his records. These certificates are not transferable, and payable only to the person to whom issued.

Accounts can not be opened for less than $1.00, nor fractions of a dollar than a deposit. A person is not permitted to deposit more than $100.00 in any one calendar month, nor to have a total balance to his credit at any one time of more than $500, exclusive of interest.

An amount less than $1 may be saved for deposit by the purchasing of 10-cent postal savings cards and adhesive postal savings stamps.

These cards contain spaces to which the stamps may be affixed and a postal savings stamp with 9 of these savings stamps thus affixed is accepted as a deposit of $1.00.

Interest is allowed on all deposits at the rate of 2 per cent. per annum, computed on each deposit annually. No separately and payable annually. No interest is paid on money which remains on deposit for a fraction of a year only. Money draws interest from the first day of the month following the date in which deposited.

Interest will continue to accrue on a savings certificate as long as it remains outstanding, and these certificates are valid until paid, without any limitation as to time. Compound interest is not allowed, but a depositor may withdraw interest payable and include it in a new deposit, which will bear interest at the regular rate.

A depositor may withdraw a whole or part of his deposits with his credit with any interest payable by surrendering savings certificates for the amount desired.

In case of the death of a depositor his deposits will be paid to the executor or administrator of the estate, and if none be appointed it is paid to the one entitled to receive it, if deemed proper by the postmaster.

If a woman marries and has an account she must present her certificates at the office in order that they may be indorsed as payable to her in her new name.

A depositor can exchange the whole or any part of his deposits in sums of $20, $40, $60, $80, $100, or multiples of 100 up to and including $500, into United States registered or coupon bonds, which bear 2½ per cent. interest and are payable semi-annually United States, after the pleasure of date of issue, both principal and interest payable 20 years from date is United States gold coin.

With Mildred and Roulere.
But few empty seats greeted Mildred and Roulere at their performance at the Norway Opera House, Tuesday evening of this week. This was the second date during 1911 that they have played to Norway people, their first appearance in this town being in the month of February.

Roulere, "Master of Mysteries" introduces his evening's entertainment with a series of mysteries, miracles and fancies.

"The Clown and the Bear" was baffling in the extreme. Here we have Roulere as the clown, and one of his assistants as the bear. At the close of the trick played we are not prepared to say whether we are not somewhat a change has been made and Roulere steps from the masquerade of the bear, and his assistant, ditto, from the clown costume. In a dapper figure, the stars and stripes figure.

Another feature of the evening was the trunk mystery. "Mildredism" was introduced by Roulere as a telepathic seance. Mildred, the bewitching Star of Mystery, did some very clever work in mind-reading.

One enterprising young man in the audience, a president of the United States would be. Mildred was equal to the occasion, naming a man from the state of Ohio, Judson Harmon. According to the young gentleman must have gone home feeling quite good, for upon inquiring for his summer girl of last season, was told that her "hubby" would keep her home this year.

Mildred Roulere, Jr. was very pleasing in her songs and dances. "Liza" proved a mysterious fifteen or twenty minutes in which Roulere used his hypnotic power.

Frank Sherman, monologue comedian had his audience with him and they were loath to let him go, even after his third appearance.

"The Right of the Princess Iris" was the final number of the program. This was the greatest illusion of the evening, with five characters in the presentation. An apparently empty cage, from which four center of the stage, from which four draped figures were taken by Mildred and Roulere, who then entered the cage. Upon inquiring for Mildred and Roulere, the drapes were taken from two of the figures and there stood—Mildred and Roulere.

"Honeymoon Well Received at Opera House."
H. Price Webber, as usual, drew a very large audience in the Opera House, last Saturday evening and his company played an admirable performance of the sterling comedy "The Honeymoon." It was freely remarked that Edwina Grey had never appeared to better advantage than she did in the character of Juliana, and she got a hearty welcome on her first entrance.

The whole company were excellent in their different roles, the costumes magnificent and the play all that could be desired. Mr. Webber provoked roars of laughter by his wit. He also took the public of Norway for all their good will for a period of thirty-four years acknowledging his obligations for the many favors and patronage given.

The Opera House is in its new dress and ornamentation, looked elegant and the improvements were much appreciated and generous praise was given manager Jones for his enterprise.

Emily Smith, the trained nurse, who has been caring for Julia Cummings returned to Lewiston, Monday. Julia, who has been ill with poisoning, is improving and able to be out.

Barn Party.

A most unique affair was the party recently held in Mary Booker's barn. It was given by the members of the B. F. Spiny Co. in honor of one of their number, Mrs. Nellie Thayer, who is about to accept a position with the Mechanic Falls Shoe Co.

It was intended for a surprise party, and it filled the bill all right, as far as Mrs. Thayer was concerned. There thirty-four guests present all in for a good time.

Mrs. Thayer was presented with a large water color painting of the Lake June 30th, formerly of the stiching room making the presentation speech, and at its close all agreed that she not only understood shoe making, but the art of speech making as well. Music, games and other amusements helped to make things lively.

And for her part in the program Mrs. Thayer kindly consented to have the company with her famous chicleater solo and so clear and true to nature was it that every hen from Geo. Audin's to O'Connell's Ridge, just set up and took notice. This was followed by the march dedicated to the Woman's Right Movement. Mrs. Lizzie Boynton and Mary Colbath exemplified this with many and various kinds of fancy steps. It should be seen to be appreciated.

And as the guests started for home, Will Libby said, "Well I don't care if my girl is mad about it, I say, for real enjoyment Cedar Swamp is far ahead of Gibson's Grove any day in the week. The music for the evening was furnished by the Box and Miles orchestra."

Camp Comus Notes.
Saturday was a guest night at Camp Comus, but Sunday, a party of young people came to visit. Photograph sessions were played and songs were sung. Mr. Wood, the chef, put out a dandy dinner.

Arthur Welch stayed at the camp Saturday night, with a friend from Boston. Mr. Welch has a bad thumb, has been operated three or four times for blood poisoning.

A dance and supper will be held the 15th of August. The camp orchestra will furnish the dancing music. Mr. Lanen caught a half dozen white perch, and a pickerel that was 24 inches long, Sunday.

Pomona Field Day—Basket Picnic.
On the Fair Grounds between the two villages, Tuesday, Aug. 22, Band music and speakers, Hon. Andrew Elliott of Gault, Ontario, Hon. B. Walker McKee, Hon. Howard Davies, the advocate of direct primaries, C. S. Stetson and others will speak. Every body is invited. There is plenty of room. No charge at the gates.

A Narrow Escape.
Monday forenoon, a little Gracie Dubois who lives in George Cole's rent at the head of Main street, was coming out of the house the noticed a light in the cellar by the window, and thinking it strange a light was there, she in and to find her husband immediately went down cellar and saw that there was a fire started around a small tin can in the corner on a beam. It was beginning to make headway, but grabbing the tin can she swathed the flames with a rug.

VOLUME XLII.
Postal Savings System.
The postmaster at Norway, Charles S. Akers, received official notice from Washington, D. C., the first of July saying that the Norway post office had been designated as a repository for postal savings, and these orders went into effect July 24th.
The Postal Savings System is established to provide facilities for depositing savings at interest with the security of the United States Government for payment. The faith of the United States is solemnly pledged to the payment of these deposits, made in postal savings offices, with accrued interest.
Accounts may be opened with persons ten years of age or over in his or her name and by married women in their own name and from any interference or control by her husband. One account is all a person can have at one time. Persons opening accounts must be patrons of the postoffice, and these accounts have to be opened by the depositor in person or his authorized representative, but after opening an account, deposits can be sent by mail.
Deposits in these depository offices are not accepted from individuals and not from a corporation, association, society, firm, partnership, or in the names of two or more persons jointly, nor can an account be opened by one person in trust for another person.
The service of the Postal Savings System is free and no charge is made on opening an account nor on the withdrawal of the deposit.
The postoffice officials or any person connected with the postoffice department are not allowed to disclose the name of any depositor or give any information concerning an account except to the depositor himself, unless directed to do so by the Postmaster General.
Deposits are evidenced by postal savings certificates which are issued in denominations of $1, $2, $5, $10, $20, $50 and $100, and each bears the name of the depositor, number of the certificate, date of issue, name of the depository office and the date on which the interest begins. A duplicate certificate is issued which the depositor signs, and returns to the postmaster who keeps it in his records. These certificates are not transferable and payable only to the person to whom issued.
Accounts can not be opened for less than $1.00, nor for fractions of a dollar accepted for a deposit. A person is not permitted to deposit more than $100.00 in any one calendar month, nor to have a total balance to his credit at any one time of more than $500, exclusive of interest.
An amount less than $1 may be saved for deposit by the purchaser of 10-cent postal savings cards and adhesive postal savings stamps.
These cards contain spaces to which the stamps may be affixed, and a postal savings card with 9 of these savings stamps thus affixed is accepted as a deposit of $1.00.
Interest is allowed on all deposits at the rate of 2 per cent. per annum, computed on each savings certificate separately and payable annually. No interest is paid on money which remains on deposit for a fraction of a year.
Money drawn from interest from the first day of the next month following that in which deposited. Interest will continue to accrue on a savings certificate as long as it remains outstanding, and these certificates are valid until paid, without any limitation as to time.
A depositor may withdraw interest payable and include it in a new deposit, which will bear interest at the regular rate.
A depositor may withdraw a whole or part of his deposits to his credit with any interest payable by surrendering savings certificates for the amount desired.
In case of the death of a depositor his deposits will be paid to the executor or administrator of the estate, and if none is appointed it is paid to the one entitled to receive it, if deemed proper by the postmaster.
If a woman marries and has an account she must present her certificates at the office in order that they may be endorsed as payable to her in her new name.
A depositor can exchange the whole or any part of his deposits in sums of $20, $40, $60, $80, $100, or multiples of 100 up to and including $500, into United States registered or coupon bonds, which bear 2½ per cent. interest which are payable semi-annually and redeemable at the pleasure of the United States.
After one year from date of issue, both principal and interest payable 20 years from date is United States gold coin.
Such exchange can be made Jan. 1 and July 1 of each year, providing such bonds are available. Such bonds are not counted as a part of the maximum of $500, and there is no limitation on the amount of available bonds which can be acquired by a depositor. These bonds are exempt from all taxes and duties of the United States as well as from taxation in any form by or under State, municipal or local authority.
Miss L. M. Griffith of Portland recently visited Clara Daggett. At one time Miss Griffith was employed in the office of the shoe factory. She is engaged in the millinery business in Portland on Congress street.

With Mildred and Rouleau.
But few empty seats greeted Mildred and Rouleau at their performance at the Norway Opera House, Tuesday evening of this week. This is the second date during 1911 that they have played to Norway people, their first appearance in this town being in the month of February.
Rouleau, "Master of Mysteries," introduced his evening's entertainment with a series of mysteries, miracles and fancies.
"The Clown and the Bear" was baffling in the extreme. Here we have a clown, and one of his assistants as the bear. At the end of this little act, the bear is not prepared for the trick played upon us, for somehow a change has been made and Rouleau steps from the masquerade of the bear, and his assistant, a daughter of Uncle Sam, the Stars and Stripes figure. Another feature of the evening was the trunk mystery.
"Mildredism" was introduced by Rouleau as a telegraphic scene. Mildred was very clever work in mind-reading. One enterprising young man in the audience mentally inquired who the next president of the United States would be. Mildred was equal to the occasion, naming a man from the state of Ohio Judson Harmon. Another young gentleman must have gone home feeling quite sad, for upon inquiring for his summer girl of last season, was told that her "hubby" would keep her home this year.
Mildred Rouleau, Jr., was very pleasing in her songs and dances. "Azra" proved a mysterious fifteen or twenty minutes in which Rouleau used his hypnotic power.
Frank Sherman, monologue comedian was very clever work with him and they were loath to let him go, even after his third appearance.
"The Flight of the Princess Iris" was the final number of the program. This was the greatest illusion of the evening, with its characters in the presentation. An apparently empty cage had the center of the stage, from which four draped figures were taken by Mildred and Rouleau, who then entered the cage. Upon inquiring for the names of the figures and there stood—Mildred and Rouleau.
"Honeymoon Well Received at Opera House."
H. Price Webber, as usual, drew a very large audience in the Opera House, last Saturday evening and his company gave an admirable performance of the sterling comedy "The Honeymoon." The play was well received and was better than she did in the character of Juliana, and she got a hearty welcome on her first entrance.
The whole company were excellent in their different roles, the costumes magnificent and the play all that could be desired. Mr. Webber provoked roars of laughter by his witticisms. He also thanked the public of Norway for a very good evening. He will for a thirty-day good-favoring his obligations for the many favors and patronage given him, and promised a return next season. The Opera House in its new dress and ornamentation, looked elegant and the improvements were much appreciated and generous praise was given manager Jones for his enterprise.
Emily Smith, the trained nurse, who has been caring for the July 4th returned to Lewiston, Monday. Julia, who has been ill with poisoning, is improving and able to be out.
Hiram Wiles and Elden Stevens have been putting in cement steps at Wallace Sheens' on Pearl St. They also put in a new foundation under the barn at Sarah Buck's at the corner of Maple and Whitman Streets.
Deep sea fishing trip next Saturday. It's the F. D. Thurston, Capt. Randolph and the "Frankie Belle" of Portland will take the party out. It will leave here on the 5.20 a. m. train.
H. Sturtevant Francis of New Bedford, Mass., who has been at the Elm House several weeks, has gone to Solersville, Maine, where he was visited by his cousin, Miss L. M. Griffith of Portland.

Barn Party.
A most unique affair was the party recently held in Mary Booker's barn. It was given by the vamps of the B. F. Spiny Co. in honor of one of their agents, Mrs. Nellie Thayer, who is about to accept a position with the Mechanic Falls Shoe Co.
It was intended for a surprise party, and it filled the bill all right, as far as Mrs. Thayer was concerned. There thirty-four guests present all in for a good time.
Mrs. Thayer was presented with a large water color picture of the Lake, June Smith, formerly of the stitching room making the presentation speech, and at its close all agreed that she not only understood shoe making, but the art of speech making as well. Music, games and other amusements helped to make things lively.
And for her part the program Mrs. Thayer kindly consented to favor the company with her famous chanticleer solo and so clear and true to nature was it that every hen from Geo. Austin's to Crockett's Ring, "I don't set up and look none." This was followed by the march dedicated to the Woman's Right Movement. Mrs. Lizzie Boynton and Mary Colbeth exemplified this with many and various kinds of fancy steps. It should be seen to be appreciated.
During the evening ice cream and cake was served. In the plate rolling contest June Smith "took the cake" (and most of the ice cream). Mary Booker didn't eat any for the Doctor told her to keep strictly to the date diet.
Fun passed rapidly and there was fun all along the line, all faces were smiles but one, when asked why? Mrs. Anna Frost said, "I'd be willing to lend Mary Booker my best bonnet or even my umbrella, but when it comes to lending her my husband for the entire evening I draw the line. As there is an end to all things, so one came to this party."
And as the guests started for home, Will Laby said, "Well I don't care if my girl is mad about it, I say, for real enjoyment Cedar Swamp is far ahead of Gibson's Grove any day in the week."
The music for the evening was furnished by the Box and Miles orchestra.
Camp Comus Notes.
Saturday was a guest night at Camp Comus, but Sunday, a party of young people came to visit. Photograph sessions were played and songs were sung. Mr. Wood, the chef, put out a dandy dinner.
Arthur Welsh stayed at the camp Saturday night, with a friend from Boston. Mr. Welsh has a bad throat and has been coughed three or four times for blood poison.
A dance and supper will be held the 15th of August. The camp orchestra will furnish the dancing music.
Mr. Lanen caught a half dozen white perch, and a pickerel that was 24 inches long, Sunday.
Pomona Field Day—Basket Picnic.
On the Fair Grounds between the two villages, Tuesday, Aug. 22. Band music and speaking. Hon. Andrew Elliott of Gault, Ontario, Hon. B. Walker McKee, Hon. Howard Davies, the advocate of direct primaries, C. S. Stetson and others will speak. Coffee will be furnished. Bring much. Everybody is invited. There is plenty of room. No charge at the gates.
A Narrow Escape.
Monday forenoon, as little Gracie Dubee, who lives in George Cole's rent at the head of Main street, was coming out of the house she noticed a light in the cellar by the window, and thinking it strange a light was there, she in and to her mother.
Mrs. Joseph Dubee immediately went down cellar and saw that there was a fire started around a small tin can in the mass below. It was beginning to smolder, but by grabbing the can she snatched the flames with a rug.
The can contained phosphorus sulphur and was placed there last winter by the family who occupied the rent, and had been procured when some of the children were sick.
The can had rusted and allowed the air to reach the contents, and this with the heat of the day started the fire, but fortunately it was discovered in time.

Downward Course

Fast Being Realized by Norway People.

A little backache at first.
Daily increasing till the back is lame and weak.Urinary disorders quickly follow;
Diabetes and finally Bright's disease.
This is the downward course of kidney ills.Don't take this course. Follow the advice of a Norway citizen.

M. M. Kilore, Danforth St., Norway, Me., says: "I do not think there is another kidney remedy on the market as effective as Doan's Kidney Pills. I suffered from backache and pains throughout my life. My kidneys were badly dis-ordered and the secretions passed irregularly. At times my back was so lame and sore that I could scarcely stand. I did not rest well at night and felt miserable in every way. At last I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I procured a supply from Stone's Drug Store.
They cured me and I have been well since. I keep Doan's Kidney Pills in the house at all times and recommend them whenever I hear anyone complaining of kidney trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cts.

Body Found in Bushes.

While Alfred Fisher, of Rumford and Arthur Hunt were berrying last Sunday, they discovered, in the bushes by the side of the logging road running by Joe Pond, the remains of a young man.
The body was almost skin and bones.
On the head was a winter cap and on the hands heavy gloves.The men at once decided that the body was that of Clayton M. Kenerson, son of Norris Kenerson of Dixfield, who disappeared last December and for whom search was made all winter. Mr.
Kenerson was summoned and identified the body as that of his son. The burial was at Rumford Center.The young man, who was 18 years of age, was at work last winter for Ed.
Martin of Rumford Center, cutting pulp wood. One Sunday, around the first of December, he started out for another of Martin's camps, on White Cap.

Rheumatism Can Be Cured
MORPHINE is no longer necessary in the treatment of this terrible disease.
TERPENE CAMPHOR COMPOUND cures where other remedies fail. It does not destroy the stomach like most other medicines.
Brookton, Mass., January 4, 1911
T. F. Eaton: Dear Sir:—It is with pleasure that I write you about the benefit I received from TERPENE CAMPHOR COMPOUND.
I suffered with Sciatic Rheumatism and was under the doctors' care long time. The only relief I had was when morphine was injected.
As a last resort I tried your TERPENE CAM-PHOR COMPOUND, and within 48 hours I began to feel better. In a few days I was able to resume my duties as a farmer, and I am glad to recommend TERPENE CAMPHOR COMPOUND, and will answer any inquiries regarding the same.
Yours very truly,
W. F. HILDRETH, Station No. 1

BETHEL.
Search for Bethel Girl.
Two hundred men and boys responded to an alarm sounded on the fire whistle and by ringing the Methodist church bell and searched the woods in all directions
Monday, for Miss Estie M. Davis, a tall young lady and daughter of Chas. M. Davis, driver of the auto stage between Bethel and Bethel.
Miss Davis, who is organist of the Methodist church, disappeared just before the morning church service Sunday and her relatives feared that she would attempt to commit suicide.
It was stated that she had been despondent and that her father's revolver was missing from its accustomed place.
Fully one hundred men with lanterns searched Sunday night. The mills were closed Tuesday to allow the search to go on.

ALBANY.

Much for Benefit of Albany. Joseph S. Rich of New York, who, with his family is spending the summer at his cottage on the shores of Songo pond, is doing much good for the benefit of Albany and its people.

Mr. Rich has contributed $100 two years ago towards the erection of a road in the vicinity of his summer home, and this amount together with an equal sum which the town has voted to put with it each year, has made a fine piece of road extending from the road at Chas. Kimball place to the Bethel line.

Two years ago Mr. Rich gave the Albany Public Library several valuable volumes and on July 4th of this year he presented the library with 70 volumes more which will add greatly to the pleasure of Albany readers when the long winter evenings come, as there are books which will suit the varied tastes of all.

The citizens of Albany are deeply grateful for the gifts from Mr. Rich and wish him to know that they are highly appreciated.

All join in wishing Mr. Rich and his family many happy summers on the shores of "Old Songo."

Utterly Wretched

Nervous Prostration Long Endured Before Remedy was Found.

Miss Minerva Remington, Upper Fern, Pa., writes: "For several years I had nervous prostration, and was utterly wretched. I lived on bread and beef tea because my stomach would not retain anything else. I took many remedies, but obtained no relief until I took Hood's Sarsaparilla. With it I began to gain at once. Am now cured. Pure, rich blood makes good, strong nerves, and this is why Hood's Sarsaparilla, which purifies and enriches the blood, cures so many nervous diseases. Get it today in usual liquid form or chocolate tablets called Sarsatabs."

Headaches and Their Treatment.

In treating a headache, there is one safe rule to follow:—Never use any medicine containing acetanilid or similar coal-tar derivatives without the advice of your physician. They may give temporary relief, but they almost never reach the cause of the trouble and are likely to weaken the heart. The most common form of headache, frequently called sick headache, arising from a disordered stomach, may be avoided by care in the choice of food. Shun pastry, candy and rich food, take time to eat; chew your food thoroughly and keep your bowels in good condition by using one-half to one teaspoonful of L. F. Atwood's Medicine after each meal. This old reliable remedy has been a perfect blessing to thousands for sixty years. Get a bottle today, and prove it for yourself. Any dealer has it for thirty-five cents, or we mail a free sample on request. L. F. Medicine Co., Portland, Me.

IN HOT WEATHER

It is difficult to know what to eat. Nourishment is needed just as much in summer as at any other time, and this, coupled with the fact that meat is undesirable, explains why so many people are eating which is twice as nourishing as beef and much more wholesome. Try this recipe today:—

Scall 2 1/2 cups milk. When cool add three tablespoonfuls sugar, a little salt, and butter the size of an egg. Dissolve 1/2 compressed yeast cake in half cup warm water and add to milk. Stir in flour enough to make a batter and add one pound of currants washed and dried. Add flour. When raised knead again and place in pans for baking. Be sure to allow enough time for bread to raise in the pans.

For Corns

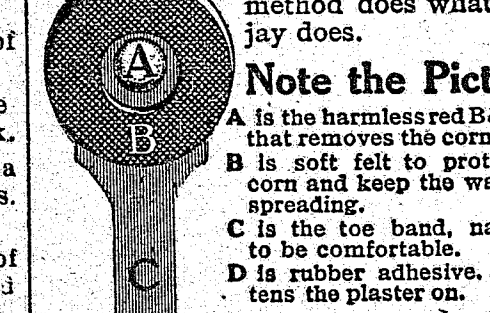

Blue-jay Removes 5,000,000 Corns a Year

Millions have learned that corns are unnecessary. May we not prove it to you?

A Blue-jay plaster—applied in five seconds—makes you forget the corn. In two days the corn comes out.

No pain, no sores, no possible harm. Nothing is so convenient. This is the only right way to get rid of a corn.

It is used by everyone who knows it. No other method does what Blue-jay does.

THE GRANGE TO FIGHT FOR PROHIBITORY LAW

Executive Committee Issues Circular Letter Urging Every Grange to Organize.

The executive committee of the Maine State Grange has just issued from the office of the State Master at Greene, an important letter to the subordinate granges, recommending each grange in the State to take immediate action to aid in the defeat of the movement for the repeal of the Prohibitory amendment.

The following is a copy of the letter: Greene, Me., July 20, 1911.

To the Subordinate Granges: Believing that we are facing a problem in the State today, the proper solution of which will very vitally affect us from a moral and economic standpoint; and believing that it is the duty of every citizen, who has the best interest of our State and the moral welfare of our people at heart, to strenuously oppose, by all legitimate means, any movement which is in any way a menace to our State; and also believing that the time has arrived when the granges should actively oppose a movement, already well under way, for the elimination of the prohibitory amendment from the Constitution of our State.

We believe that it is but a movement toward the open saloon, which exists solely that it may fatten on the lifeblood of our boys by the licensed sale of that which is not food, which cannot promote love of home, which destroys habits of industry, thrift and economy, and which prevents a high conception of citizenship.

And the grange stands upon the side of and is pledged to the support of those things which stimulate habits of frugality, industry, honesty, and faithfulness to home, a truer conception of patriotism and a broader manhood and womanhood, and realizing that the repeal of this amendment means the licensed saloon which is a menace to these conditions:

Therefore, we would recommend that each grange in the State take immediate action for the most effective means of defeating this movement. Active aggressive work means success. Apathy and indifference at this time means defeat. We would recommend that you organize in the way which shall best meet conditions in your locality. We think it advisable and would recommend the appointing of a committee for the purpose of canvassing your town to awaken an interest and, in every legitimate way, using the influence of the organization to defeat this menace to the well-being and good name of our State.

WHAT A BANGOR CONGREGATIONALIST DR. OF DIVINITY IS SAYING.

On the retention or rejection of state-wide prohibition, let me say:

1. Every drunkard, criminal, evil-minded person, that can vote will vote to reject it—I shall not vote with them.

2. The combined liquor traffic desires this more than it desires almost anything—I shall not vote to give it its desires.

3. This is part of a series, and especially in New England—first New Hampshire, the easiest; next Vermont, the next easiest; now, the hardest, and therefore the biggest triumph, Maine. I shall not vote to put on the stone to this kind of a "progressive" campaigning of the liquor traffic.

4. The argument is: conditions are bad. This is a proposition to make them worse.

(a). At the worst, say in Bangor, things are not as bad as in license towns, say in Massachusetts, of like size. I know, for most of my pastoral was in that state. The people of Maine as a whole are quite misinformed about the terrible conditions in the license towns of Massachusetts.

(b). License withdraws public reprobaton; the 25 or more places to be licensed in Bangor, otherwise under ban and hiding away, come out on the back streets, get the best corners (they can afford them), open elegant places and thrust the traffic on the public offensively; and they do it with the approval of the State by vote given, instead of, as now, under its reprobation.

(c). Far more liquor will be sold. (d). The thing will get into politics; licenses must be had; there will need to be a liquor lobby in every city hall and town house to handle the licenses. Politics are dirty enough without the addition of this sort of thing.—Not by my vote will a bad condition of things be made anywhere from 25 to 200 per cent. worse.

5. This is a proposition to take from 25 to 200 per cent more money from every merchant, grocer, butcher, mechanical trade, bank, insurance company, or whatever place a calling beneficial to the community, and to turn it into the tills of the saloon men. It is a direct vote to diminish prosperity, to discourage thrift, to aid a business which is a curse to every legitimate interest of the community. I shall not so vote. I will not be party to jumping out of the frying pan into the fire.

6. I am a Christian man. I will not vote to sanction and further that which destroys property, blights homes, ruins lives, makes drunkards, fills jails, almshouses and asylums and sends people out of this world unprepared for the great issues of eternity. Was unto him that putteth the bottle to his neighbor's lips!—David N. Beach, president Bangor Theological Seminary, Bangor, July 15, 1911.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN SAID:

"The liquor traffic is a cancer in society eating out its vitals and threatening destruction, and all attempts to regulate it will not only prove abortive but will aggravate the evil. No there must be no more attempts to regulate the cancer; it must be eradicated. Not a root must be left behind, for until this is done all classes must continue in danger of becoming victims of strong drink."

DANGER AHEAD FOR MAINE

A word to Voters. Shall we surrender our prohibitory law by allowing it to be taken out of the constitution of our State?

If the majority vote yes, it will be lost, and a local option law or a state license law will take its place—unless we want one or the other, why vote in favor of its removal.

What will be gained by local option—giving every town a right to say whether or not it will have a saloon in its midst or not.

Do you want a licensed saloon in Norway or South Paris, or any other town in our State, then vote YES on September 11 and you will help make it a possibility for no saloon can be licensed as long as the amendment remains in the State Constitution and that cannot be removed without a majority vote of the people—will you help remove it by voting YES?

You say you do not want a licensed saloon in YOUR town?

Why not? If it is a good thing in any town, why not have it in yours? And if it is not a good thing in your town, why vote to make it possible for any town to have it.

If the prohibitory law is voted out of the constitution, and a local option law is substituted, possibly Lewiston, Bangor and Biddeford might vote for license; using the influence of the organization to defeat this menace to the well-being and good name of our State.

WHO SAYS IT?

Who says Prohibition is a failure? The brewer and distiller? Yes, they say it. Who else says it? The saloon-keeper and bartender? Yes, they say it, and say it a dozen times a day. The sot in the gutter? Yes, he says it, and he certainly looks like it was a failure. The man who violates the liquor laws? Certainly he says it, and does all in his power to make it so.

Who says Prohibition is a failure? The gambler? Yes, he says it, and he associates with the very set that would make it a failure. The whole set of boot-leggers, joint keepers and blind tiger men, they say it. Of course they do, and do their best to make it so.

What does the United States Government say? Fifty miles of saloons closed in 1908, and the liquor bill less than the year before by $217,000,000. That's going some. And in 1909, forty-one saloons closed a day, sixty miles of them in the year, over two million less whiskey drunk, and the estimated drink bill lowered by $412,000,000.00.

What do the liquor men say among themselves? Julius Lieberman, the head of the United Brewery of the United States, in an address to the brewers in June, 1909, says that the prohibition wave had curtailed the output of beer in the United States over five million barrels in eighteen months' time.

In a private letter to a saloon keeper friend, one of the largest wholesale wine-merchants in the country lamented that, "Here in Virginia we are fighting for our very existence; if this thing continues much longer we shall all be broke, even if we win." Which may not be an over-grammatical sentence but one plain to understand. The writer continues, "In the last year we have lost over $300,000.00 of established trade, legislated out of existence."

Do YOU ever say that Prohibition is a failure? Think a minute. Do you want to train with the crowd that is always saying this? Use your common sense. If as much whiskey is sold under prohibition as under license, in the name of common sense, why do not all the saloon-keepers work for prohibition, save their license money, and sell as much as ever? When they do all in their power to defeat prohibition, and pour out money like water to do this, they acknowledge by their actions that prohibition prohibits altogether too well to suit them.

TAKE NOTICE

Attention is called to the communication in another column from D. C. Remick of Littleton, New Hampshire, how Prohibition Helps Business. Mr. Remick is one of the leading citizens of the State of New Hampshire. He has long been prominent in public life there, has been one of the most influential members of the House of Representatives, and took a leading part in the campaign made by Winston Churchill for the nomination for governor in that State. What he has to say about conditions in his own town may be relied upon absolutely, because he has not only seen the change which has been brought about in Littleton, but he has been a great moving factor in accomplishing it. Any man who has an idea that licensing the liquor traffic helps any business except the liquor seller's business, should read Mr. Remick's testimony with especial care.

BRYAN NOT ADVOCATE OF SALOON

Liquor Men Must Be in Desperate Fix to Quote Him.

In a recent issue of a campaign sheet called the Bulletin, issued by the advocates of licensing the saloon in the State of Maine, there appeared a quotation from Hon. William Jennings Bryan which was calculated to give the idea that Mr. Bryan was on the side of the open saloon.

Upon receiving a copy of this campaign sheet, Rev. B. C. Wentworth of Norway wrote to Mr. Bryan, stating the facts concerning the quotation, from him. In reply he received the following letter:

THE COMMONER.

Lincoln, Neb., July 14, 1911.

Rev. B. C. Wentworth, Norway, Me. Dear Sir—Your letter to Mr. W. J. Bryan has just been received. As he is now away on an extended lecture tour and will not be able to see his correspondence for some time, I take the liberty of saying that it is unfair to quote him on legislation on the liquor question outside of Nebraska. He has voted upon the subject here according to his judgment as to the conditions to be met. His view upon the liquor question as he had to meet it last year in this state and this year in the city of Lincoln, are stated in the two speeches which I enclose. You will see from these that the liquor men must be in desperate straits to quote him on the subject. They opposed his position last year when he favored county option in Nebraska, and they opposed his position in Lincoln this spring when he opposed the reopening of the saloons.

Very truly yours,
O. E. GEORGE,
Secretary.

This attempt to make it appear that Mr. Bryan is an advocate of the saloon is a part and parcel of the campaign which we shall have to meet in this State during the next few weeks. There will be no end of misrepresentation and false reports, and the people will do well to be on their guard against them. The attitude of the liquor interests in opposing Mr. Bryan's position as to county option and as to opening the saloons in Lincoln under local option, is perfectly characteristic. They fight against every form of restriction which law places upon their traffic.

The letter from Mr. Bryan's secretary, together with the speeches which Mr. Bryan has made on this subject, are a complete answer to any effort on the part of the advocates of the liquor interests to reckon the great Nebraska one of them.

WHO IS TO BLAME?

Does prohibition prohibit? Does a Maine Central locomotive take itself out of the round house, couple itself onto a train and make the trip to Bangor, stopping at stations and whistling at crossings, without human agency in the cab? Without the human agency the law is an inert machine. It is the man in the engine or behind the gun that does the business. Does prohibition prohibit? Not of itself, but prohibition, plus conscientious, courageous and determined officers of the law, prohibits.—Portland (Me.) Press.

(Shakespeare.)
"Oh thou invisible Spirit of Wine; as thou hast no name by which thou art known let us call thee DEVIL."
Vote to license this devil.

(Gladstone.)
"Strong drink is a greater curse than war, pestilence and famine combined."
Vote to license this CURSE.

(Bishop Fowler.)
"We have no scales in which to weigh the desolations of rum. The plagues of Egypt were a blessing compared with this monstrosity, and slavery was never anything but an infant compared with this giant of iniquity. It has no head, and cannot think, it has no ears and cannot hear, it has no eyes and cannot see, it has no heart and cannot feel, but it has an instinct with which to plan, a coil with which to bind, a fang with which to sting, and an infinite maw in which to consume its victims."
Vote to license this brainless, deaf, blind, heartless thing with its coil, fang and maw.

(King Solomon.)
"Who hath woe?
"Who hath sorrow?
"Who hath contentions?
"Who hath babbling?
"Who hath wounds without cause?
"Who hath redness of eyes?
"They that tarry long at the wine, they that go to seek mixed wine. Look not thou upon the wine when it is red, when it giveth his color in the cup, when it moveth itself aright. At the last it will bite like a serpent, and sting like an adder."
License it so that it may sting and bite TWENTY, in the place of ONE, under prohibition.

BREWERS APPROPRIATE $150,000 FOR WAR ON MAINE PROHIBITION

Brewers' Association Organizer Working Here

The brewers are already operating in Maine.

Ever since the opening of the campaign for the retention of prohibition, the saloon press and advocates have sneered at the idea that the United States Brewers' Association would take any part in the fight for the repeal of prohibition in Maine. Nevertheless, the friends of prohibition have expected from the first that the real battle would be with the seasoned campaigners of the United States Brewers' Association.

They were right in their expectations! John A. McDermott, manager of the organization bureau of the United States Brewers' Association, has been located for some days at one of the leading hotels in a Maine city, with several assistants, preparing the organization of the State for the ensuing campaign. Mr. McDermott left matters in charge of his assistants and returned to New York a few days ago.

While he was here, he interviewed many persons and laid many plans for the operation of the campaign. As sometimes happens in a case of this kind, Mr. McDermott's lack of acquaintance with the people of the State led him to make some acknowledgements which he would not care, probably, for his opponents to know. It happened that one gentleman who was brought into his presence, one of the best known citizens of the State, a man who, if his name were given, would be recognized not only as one of the leading men of the State, but as a man whose word can be absolutely relied upon; is not in favor of licensing the liquor traffic in the State of Maine, and the interview which took place between these two gentlemen was entirely a one-sided affair.

In the presence of this friend of prohibition, the plans of the campaign were talked over.

In the conference were some Maine people as well as the outsiders who accompanied Mr. McDermott. It was stated as a positive fact that $150,000 has been appropriated by the United States Brewers' Association for the purpose of carrying Maine for license in this campaign. It was stated that a thorough organization would be created in all parts of the State with the end in view of getting out the license vote; and that neither effort nor expense would be spared to prevent the reaffirmation of prohibition in the State of Maine.

Is Proof Positive.

This authentic information, coming directly from the real managers of the license campaign in Maine is of utmost importance to the people of this State. It is proof positive of the fallacy of the claim that the liquor interests prefer that the law should remain as it is now upon the absurd pretense that more liquor is sold under prohibition than is sold under license. It is proof, also, that the liquor interests are not familiar with the character of the citizenship of this State. For their belief that the suffrages of the people of Maine are for sale, and that with an appropriation of $150,000 they can take the State away from its established traditions, based upon the principle which has been taught for two generations, shows that they do not know the staunch character of the citizens of this State, who without regard to party politics, are standing solidly against their invasion of Maine.

How The Saloon Helps Business in Oregon.

A letter from A. L. Golder, a prominent citizen of Dalles, Oregon, to friends in Presque Isle, Me., where he for a number of years made his home, gave an interesting description of the conditions in the city of Dalles where the saloon is operated under the sanction and protection of the law.

Mr. Golder says: "I might advise you coming to Dalles to live were it not for some drawbacks, such as 80 saloons and a large 'red light' district under police protection and having the sanction of the city council. If Maine has any itching to go West she ought to live here for a short time and she would think prohibition Heaven in comparison. A half million dollars are spent in the saloons in this little town every year and besides there are clubs and dives and illegal selling going on nights and Sundays such as Presque Isle never dreamed of. If any one thinks that the license or local option law can be better enforced than the prohibition law he would soon get over that notion out here. With saloons the town is under their control absolutely, and houses of prostitution are controlled by the big saloons and no one dares touch them. If Maine is foolish enough to repeal a good law just because she doesn't want to enforce it, she will have to take her medicine when the saloons control the State. It is a thousand times better to have liquor shipped to individuals in the State and drank on the way than to have open saloons all over the State. Dalles is losing money by this business every day for we might have twice the population if the town was kept decently dry. Eastern people pass us up after they stop off here and see the conditions and go on to dry cities. They want a clean place for their children to grow up in and attend school. Excuse my digression on the liquor question but I feel strongly about it and have a right to. I love old Maine too well to want to see her take a back step. There was a time in Maine before the present law was in vogue, when she was the poorest in the Union in proportion to population. Under prohibition she has more money in the banks for her population than the rich state Ohio with its saloons."

W. F. BERRY.

DO YOU WANT IT?

Do the people of Maine want an institution of this sort within the State? Here is a description of a saloon published in a current weekly:

"A few nights ago I went out and spent half an hour in a saloon owned by a Chicago alderman. If there is anything more like hell this side of the brimstone pit, I do not know where to find it. About 250 men were in the place, and not a happy face, not a cheerful countenance, not a hopeful expression could I find in all that drinking, swearing, quarrelsome crowd of besotted wrecks.

"Profanity galore, the ribald song, the maudlin jest, the obscene story were to be heard on every hand. It was a seething, restless, unhappy, vicious and dangerous company of men, fit material for rapine and slaughter in case of some great riotous outbreak in the city. If this aldermanic sink of iniquity and thousands of more which are almost as vile, could be exposed in all their utter abomination to the gaze of the good citizens of Chicago, there would be a shudder of horror and a rebound of indignation that would demand their destruction."

ARE YOU WILLING?

The man who votes for license ought to be willing that his own son should die a drunkard. The open saloon, which his vote helps to establish, he knows will ensnare somebody's boy, why should it not be in the eternal law of fitness, his own child?

B. C. W.

A LIQUOR BOOMERANG.

To the Editor of the Express Advertiser:—Dear Sir—The license press of Maine recently made much of a statement as to the recent interstate commerce report as to the quantity of intoxicants carried into prohibition territory during the past year. The amount so transported is given as 20,000,000 gallons. This seems a large quantity. But what relation do these 20,000,000 gallons sent from license states into prohibition territory bear to the total quantity used in the United States?

The total amount of intoxicants produced in and imported into the United States in 1910 was in round numbers 2,100,000,000 gallons. The population of the United States is 91,972,266 and that of the nine prohibition states is 15,602,935. It will be seen then that while the total population of the prohibition states is one-sixtieth of that of the United States the 20,000,000 gallons of intoxicants shipped into these states is only one one-hundred and sixth part of the total quantity of intoxicants brought into the United States. That is, the 20,000,000 sent into the prohibition states allows 1.28 gallons per inhabitant, while the 2,080,000,000 in the rest of the United States allows 22.13 gallons per inhabitant, or nearly 18 times as much as in prohibition territory.

No recent public statement so forcefully emphasizes the value of prohibition as does this report of the interstate commerce commission.

We thank the license press for giving it publicity.

W. F. BERRY.

The State Press and Prohibition.

As far as our knowledge extends out of nearly ninety daily and weekly papers in Maine there are but six or seven advocating local option. Some of these papers have had a record of having been on the wrong side of every moral issue since they came into existence. To find out just where they stand, on the question of temperance, by taking the opposite side you are sure to be right and would not miss it in a million times. Thank heaven for almost a solid press for prohibition.
